Nashville, TN – (July 11th, 2013) – The T.J. Martell Foundation, a 501(c)3 national non-profit organization supported by the music industry, is proud to announce the hiring of Tinti Moffat as Director of Strategic Development to raise funds and bring awareness to the Foundation's mission of funding leukemia, cancer and AIDS research. Moffat will oversee the Southern Region office of the T.J. Martell Foundation.

Moffat joins the Foundation with over 25 years of music business experience. She has served as an entertainment consultant for several organizations, most recently managing Event Production and Business Development for Jimmy Buffett's Margaritaville; prior to this position, she was an agent at William Morris Endeavor Entertainment responsible for booking show dates and tours for the roster of talent as well as working with publishing community to develop and sign new talent.

In her spare time she has spearheaded multiple successful initiatives for local non-profits, earning her a reputation as a "career volunteer" within the Nashville community; she is also an avid golfer.

The T.J. Martell Foundation's Southern Region office organizes several key events in the Nashville, Atlanta, Houston and Dallas areas including Best Cellars Dinners, Family Day, and the Wirtgen America Golf Classic. The Foundation locally supports cancer research at Vanderbilt-Ingram Cancer Center, Winship Cancer Institute, and MD Anderson Cancer Center.
